

SECTION ONE: PRELIMINARY INFORMATION (UNDERGRADUATE)

1. Title and code number of the program
2. Indication of the level of the program (undergraduate)
3. Credit weighting and hours of the program and its constituent courses
 - . Introduction to the program
 - a. background to the program (brief history of the program),
 - b. intended student recruitment and market
 - c. external consultation on program development
 - d. number of students in each year
 - e. the demand for graduates of the program
 - f. key features and characteristics of the program
 - g. committee structure for the program
 - . Major market of the program
 - . Strategies to ensure that best possible students are recruited
 - . Student and stakeholder evaluation and satisfaction

- d. qualifications awarded
- e. teaching and learning
- f. assessment procedures
- g. learning opportunities
- h. internships, exchanges and special features
- i. views of previous and present students
- j. views of employers

ie